

Round 1

1. Players have to draw within their own divided sections and fold the part when done. The next player can not see the drawing.
2. The first player has to extend a certain number of lines outside of the grid as a reference for the next player.
3. The next player needs to use all the lines left by the former player to continue the drawing.
4. The number of extended lines can not be changed through the entire game. (players can not add more extended lines.)

